

Quality Reviewers: The Backbone of a Quality Assurance System

- Workshop 23 June 2014 -

Lebanese University – Central Administration

As a follow up to the Tempus-TLQAA project a group of scholars have been meeting and collaborating in order to pursue the activities towards the establishment of a quality culture. The present workshop is the first of a series of activities aiming at capacity building; it is organized as a collaboration between the TLQAA+ group, the University of Balamand, the Lebanese University and Tempus-HERE team. It aims at clarifying the roles of the reviewers as a backbone of a quality system presenting different aspects of the higher education as seen from the reviewer perspective. All scholars of the Lebanese higher education system are invited to attend this workshop that will be held in the premises of the Lebanese University - Central Administration (Mathaf).
